CSUN Honored

Many of our readers may be unaware that California State University at Northridge (CSUN) was recently awarded the 1982 G. Theodore Mitau Award by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) for educational innovation and improvement. Specifically, the award was given for the Services to Deaf Students program at CSUN which was one of only five outstanding programs selected by the AASCU's committee on Alternatives and Innovations to receive the award. Since 1964, more than 260 master's degrees have been awarded by CSUN to deaf students. This is the largest number of such degrees awarded by any regular college or university to deaf students. ADARA congratulates CSUN for having earned this honor.

ERRATUM

In the January issue (Volume 16, Number 3) issue, Alan L. Hilton, Ed.D. should have been listed as a co-author of the article "Vocational Rehabilitation of the Hearing Impaired Native American". Dr. Hilton is at the Institute for Habilitative Services, Eastern Montana College, Billings, Montana 59101.
